8. [] Norton Miller, Press Secretary to Senator John McClellan (D., Ark.), called to discuss an inquiry he had received from Mr. Chuck Abramson of the Los Angeles Times. Abramson has asked whether Senator McClellan has ever had access to National Security Council Intelligence Directives, whether he has ever asked for access to NSCIDs, or whether any past chairmen of his subcommittee has had access to them. I told Miller, for the Senator's information, that none of our chairmen have asked the Agency for access to these Directives and that if asked we would have to take the question up with the National Security Council since NSCIDs are NSC documents and not documents of this Agency. Most importantly, however, none of our chairmen have ever been denied any information which they have requested which is within the Agency's authority to release. I pointed out that in the past our committee chairmen have been reluctant to discuss the details of their oversight of the Agency but in a final analysis this is a matter which Chairman McClellan would have to decide. Miller said he would discuss this further with Jim Calloway, Senate Appropriations Committee staff, and with the Chairman.
